

100,000 tickets sold for Virgin Money Street of Light in a week

An unbelievable 100,000 tickets have been dispensed for the newest event at Edinburgh's Christmas in just a week since they became available. Tickets are freeboot absolutely required for the Virgin Money Street of Light event on the High Street.

That is enough tickets to fill Murrayfield, Tynecastle and Easter Road all at the same time.

Underbelly are delighted at the response and Charlie Wood director said : "The response from not just Edinburgh but the rest of the world has been amazing with no sign of demand slowing down. We are so happy to have already issued 100,000 free tickets in such a short period of time. I advise everyone to book NOW to avoid disappointment. There will be no finer place to celebrate the spirit of Christmas this year than here in Edinburgh."

Reserve your tickets here for the event which starts on 30 November and will light up the Royal Mile until Christmas Eve.
