

Creative Edinburgh Awards 2015

Photo by Mihaela Bodlovic

Creative Edinburgh were once again the host to their fabulous event, which included leaders, shakers and movers from all creative backgrounds come together to celebrate their fourth Birthday.

Awarding those that shone amidst a variety of platforms for their efforts to the capital over the last year, the organisation not only congratulated and announced the award winners but provided a marketplace for start-ups, sponsors and creative individuals the opportunity to market their work and wares.

With sponsors Heverlee providing refreshments and a silent disco, as well as artist installations there was much in the fairly young venue, The Biscuit Factory, to keep the attendees entertained. However, when it came to the awards announcement itself the natural acoustics and PA system provided made it almost inaudible.

Photo by Mihaela Bodlovic

As with most events in these modern times, we had to be thankful for the social media effort.

Aside from the sound, they were pretty much spot on with this wonderful night of celebration.

This is the full list of winners below:

The City Award – Neu! Reekie!

The Collaboration Award – Edinburgh Napier University – BA (Hons) Photography & St David's RC High 'High School Resilience Project'

The Commercial Award – Something Something 'Tennent's Lager Wellpark'

The Creativity Award – Alasdair Thomson

The Independent Award – Judy R Clark

The Leadership Award – Faith Liddell – Festivals Edinburgh

The Social Award – Conversations for Change

The Startup Award – Something Something

The Student Award – Jack Lennie 'Tinker'