

Five things you need to know today

Edinburgh's Christmas light up the Old Town

Edinburgh North & Leith Open Space event

Christmas Cab-i-oke

Placing in Schools Appeal Committee looking for volunteers

Edinburgh Greek Film Festival – last day!

Even the most cynical Christmas humbug cruncher has to admit that the light installation on the Royal Mile is just a wee bit magical. It is the newest attraction and will run till Christmas Eve so book your tickets now!

The lights will synchronise with the music which will be different each evening. Here is the schedule for tonight! You have to book but tickets are free.

Tuesday 1 December 2015

6:30 Edinburgh Police Choir

8:30 Edinburgh Gay Men's Choir

Monday – Saturday: 6.30pm & 8.15pm

Sunday: 5.30pm & 7.30pm

The event lasts for 20 minutes

Free event but reserve a ticket to ensure entry at virginmoneystreetoflight.com

Read more here.

The Edinburgh Reporter News from Phyllis Stephen on Vimeo.

Tonight at MacDonald Road Library there will be an Open Space event organised by Councillor Lesley Hinds who is standing as Labour candidate for the constituency at the 2016 Holyrood elections.

More information here.

From 2nd-5th December, the McDonald's Christmas Cab-i-oke will be touring the city encouraging people to hop in and sing along to Wizzard's "I wish it could be Christmas everyday" in exchange for a free cab ride. Sing-a-longs to the famous festive tune will be filmed with participating passengers in with a chance to see themselves featured in the McDonald's Christmas Day TV ad, or on its website and social media channels.

'The Journey to Christmas' campaign was launched with a TV advert featuring a family making a long car journey just before Christmas Day, during which they sing along to the Christmas classic. The advert encourages viewers to film themselves singing the song whilst on their own Christmas journeys and upload the video to the festive hub on www.mcdonalds.co.uk.

Each video entry will be in with a chance of starring in a special 90-second Christmas Day advert, played in the ad break of the most watched programme – Coronation Street.

Detailed instructions (and you need two phones to make it work!) are here.

Placing in Schools Appeal Committee members are independent volunteers from the community who come from a wide range of backgrounds. Their role is to decide if the Council's decision to refuse a child a place in a school has been made correctly for a reason that is allowed by the law.

Do you have the time and commitment to undertake this important role?

We are looking to appoint volunteers who must:

- Have an awareness of education issues / schools in the City of Edinburgh Council area

OR

- Be the parent/carer of a child attending a school in the City of Edinburgh Council area

If you are interested in applying, please come along to our open information evening to learn more.

Open Information Evening

Date: Tuesday, 8 December 2015

Time: 6.00pm

Location: European Room, City of Edinburgh Council, City Chambers, High Street, Edinburgh

For more information or an application pack please contact us at schoolappeals@edinburgh.gov.uk

More information at www.edinburgh.gov.uk/placingappealvolunteers

At the Filmhouse today the Greek Film Festival will draw to a close. You can still catch the film Fan later today and tickets are here.

This festival has the Greece we all know and the Greece behind it. We have a small town dealing with the Colonel's dictatorship as an incidental inconvenience, an island whose history would break your heart and open your understanding, a Quixotic, reluctant, panoramic Odyssey and a cameo of Greek family life as it would be if a child took charge.

Despite recent events, Greece has neither calmed down nor exploded. Greece continues. And makes films we are delighted to be able to show to Scotland.

edinburghgreekfestival.com

Sign up here for a daily email from The Edinburgh Reporter
! [mc4wp_form]

If you are reading this article in print and would like to visit The Edinburgh Reporter website then simply scan the QR code here with a smartphone or tablet.