

Have yourself a Crafty Little Christmas

John Lewis are hosting free festive craft workshops from 12-2pm every day until Sunday 27 December – so if you want to go that extra mile and get crafty for Christmas now is your chance!

Nestled in the haberdashery department amidst swathes of silk and shelves of candy-coloured sewing machines, the workshop space is pleasantly cosy and informal.

The girls at John Lewis are on hand to help with all manner of ideas from oversized advent calendars to fuzzy felt faces – nothing is too great a challenge for even the most amateur crafter in their capable hands.

The haberdashery department is full of twinkling truckles – enough to inspire any budding creatives to get crafty... and the workshops are drop-in so there's no excuse not to! The more the merrier – why not bring a friend and get started on those hanging decorations? They make an ideal gift, if you can bear to part with your new creation!
