

Edinburgh International Film Festival – Highlander remastered

Thirty years after it was first released the newly restored Highlander will be shown as part of the Edinburgh International Film Festival.

The soundtrack by Queen, the sword-fights and the quotable lines all make for a great film., but now with the restoration based on a 4K scan of the original camera negative the film is set to entertain filmgoers anew.

Clancy Brown who plays the Kurgan in the film will be at the screening on 18 June along with other special guests on 18 June 2016 at Cineworld, Fountain Park.

Tickets are now on sale here and are priced £8/£6.

Park Circus and StudioCanal have given generous support to the screening.
