

#SP16 You'll have had your election then...

The Edinburgh Reporter has been pretty busy over the last week or two gathering interviews with potential MSPs and then covering the Edinburgh count on Thursday night, and some pronouncements on Friday.

The big guns were all there : Sky, BBC and STV along with all the national newspapers, and although we cannot bring 24 hour coverage we hope you like what we did report for you on Periscope, on this website and on Twitter.

We ran a liveblog during the election count and the following day which you can read here.

The new MSPs have started work at Holyrood today and the first meeting will take place on Thursday 12 May. Before then there will be a multi-faith service on 11 May in the Kirking of the Parliament.

Here is our video round-up of the Scottish Parliamentary Election 2016.
