

Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2016 – Grant Stott's Tales from Behind the Mic

Former policeman-turned-Radio Forth DJ Grant Stott debuts his dazzling solo show following his appearances in the sold out Fringe First-winning "Kiss Me Honey, Honey" and "Willie and Sebastian".

You might have also seen Grant as a regular King's Theatre Edinburgh panto villain...(oh yes you have!)

Directed by Andy Gray, Grant will be sharing some of the funny, strange, awkward and bizarre moments that have happened to him on and off air in the past 26 years.

What was Daft Davie trying to say to his Mum on the radio? How did a well-known Rangers player's name make Grant say the worst possible swear word live on air? And how did that song about Fife come about?

Join Grant to find out!
