

Our Pick of Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2016 – Price (still) includes Biscuits

One for the diary is Birmingham-based humourist Naomi Paul's show, Price (Still) Includes Biscuits.

Naomi uses her characteristic dry Jewish humour to comment on contemporary political issues, share personal stories and perform catchy handmade songs.

Her style of storytelling and wry humour will take you on an eccentric journey into life's darker corners – from lingerie to libraries, Birmingham to the Balkans – cleverly stitched together through songs, stories and of course biscuits.

See Naomi Paul's Price (still) Includes Biscuits at TheSpaceUK Surgeon's Hall 5-27 Aug 18:15

Tickets here