

Man due in court after indecent exposures in Mid Calder area

A 27-year-old man is due to appear at Livingston Sheriff Court on Monday in connection with a series of indecent exposures in West Lothian which took place in the Mid Calder area between Thursday, August 11 and Thursday, August 25.

Chief Inspector Steven Dolan, said: "Police Scotland treats all incidents of indecency with the utmost seriousness and we will relentlessly target those who commit these crimes.

"I would thank all our officers who assisted in this enquiry, including our local community officers who conducted additional patrols in the Mid Calder area.

"Without their dedicated work, this investigation could not have made progress."
