

Fundraiser at My Front Room for MND

My Front Room is the new kid on the coffee scene as they just opened in July. They are holding a fundraising day with a different on Friday 30 September 2016 as they will be asking patrons to pay only what they think their coffee or meal is worth.

The idea behind it is to raise much needed funds for MND. Owners Nick and Lucy explained: "We will be removing all prices from the menu and instead there will be tea caddies on the bar which will allow you to pay what you think the experience was worth. Any monies received over and above the normal prices, will be donated to MND Scotland.

"So Friday 30th September 2016 is not only a day to come and experience My Front Room's exceptional service, coffee, tea, cakes, soups and salads (the list is endless) but also to do your bit for an incredible charity."
