

Police confirm identity of a man who died following collision on A801

Police in West Lothian have confirmed the identity of a man who died on the A801.

Glenn McDonald, aged 69, of Poulton-le-fylde, Lancashire, died when his Audi A4 collided with a Ford Fiesta on Sunday at the Boghead Roundabout near Bathgate.

Police and emergency services attended, but Mr McDonald was sadly pronounced dead at the scene.

Inspector Richard Latto of the Lothians and Scottish Borders Road Policing Unit said: "This is a very difficult time for Glenn's family and friends and our condolences are with them."

"Enquiries into the full circumstances surrounding this collision are still ongoing and I would urge anyone with information to contact us as soon as possible."
