

Public consultation on Monday about Old Royal Infirmary

✖ The University of Edinburgh is holding a public forum tomorrow Monday 24 October 2016 to discuss the Former Surgical Hospital.

The public consultation is to give anyone interested an opportunity to comment on the initial design proposals for the category A-listed building at the heart of the Quartermile development.

Edinburgh's Old Royal Infirmary is to be the setting for a major new facility for the University of Edinburgh, with accommodation for humanities, business and arts disciplines.

Representatives from the University and the architects Bennetts Associates will be available at the public consultation on the day to take questions and comments.

The event will take place on Monday, 24 October 2016 from 3.00pm until 7.00pm in the Atrium of the University's Informatics Forum, 10 Crichton Street.

More information can be found here.