

Channel 4 to broadcast all of Scotland Women's games at Euro 2017

Channel 4 will broadcast all of Scotland Women's games at Euro 2017 in Holland next summer.

Anna Signeul's side will take on England in their opening match on 19th July before playing Spain and Portugal.

The tournament opens with the host nation, the Netherlands taking on Norway on 16th July.

Speaking of the announcement made at Channel 4's Upfront 2017 event, Stephen Lyle, Commissioning Editor, Sport commented: "We're thrilled to have secured the UEFA Women's Euro 2017 on Channel 4. believe this tournament is going to be one of the sporting highlights of the summer."

Full details of all the matches to be broadcast live by Channel 4 will be revealed in due course.

Scotland's Euro 2017 Group Stage fixtures

Wednesday 19th July: England v Scotland (Utrecht) 7.45pm UK Time

Sunday 23th July: Scotland v Portugal (Rotterdam) 5pm UK Time

Thursday 27th July: Scotland v Spain (Deventer) 7.45pm UK Time