

Creative Edinburgh Awards unveiled ahead of ceremony

Creative Edinburgh Director Janine Matheson and sculptor Alasdair Thomson pose with the unique awards.

These awards designed by Alasdair Thomson are made from the dolerite rock of Salisbury Crags, which is the first time the rock has been used in a sculpture.

This year's winners will be announced tomorrow evening 10 November 2016 at Creative Edinburgh's Birthday Bash at Central Hall.

These highlight great ideas and creativity across all platforms and sectors in Edinburgh. The shortlist this year included 27 artists, producers, design agencies, illustrators and new talent.

Tomorrow's event will be the highlight in the city's creative calendar and Creative Edinburgh have collaborated with Nothing Ever Happens Here to curate the music. Sponsors include FreeAgent, Administrate, CodeClan, CodeBase and Black Box.
