

VisitScotland has it covered from all angles

Two young ladies walk their dog to the top of Arthur's Seat in Edinburgh.

A new VisitScotland interactive adventure experience is putting visitors in a spin – by giving them a 360 degree view of some of Scotland's best viewpoints including our very Arthur's Seat.

State of the art videos capture performers ascending and descending the peaks using a special camera rig that gives viewers a 360 degree view.
