

Activity package launched for 2017 by SYHA

Stunning scenery that can be experienced on walks

SYHA Hostelling Scotland have announced an activity breaks and holidays package for 2017 which includes the craft making, walking and storytelling.

It follows a recent TripAdvisor survey in which travellers said they are seeking new experiences when making travel plans.

The hostelling organisation claim their selection of activity short breaks and longer holidays will suit most outdoor enthusiasts and newcomers to the great outdoors.

Activities include Munro bagging in Torridon and the Isle of Skye to the more gentle West Coast island hopping and from long distance trail walking on the Cape Wrath Trail to a new creative craft and tales weekend at Loch Ossian.

Donna Thompson, sales manager, said: "We continually receive positive feedback about our activity breaks and holidays.

"SYHA collaborates with local and experienced guides and instructors who, in addition to their area of expertise, have the additional knowledge of the locality of the trip. This helps ensure we continue to offer great value and fantastic experiences for all."
