

Celebrate Penguin Day

Wondering what to do with those children in between Christmas and New Year?

We have an answer for you here. Dynamic Earth is running Penguin Days between 27-30 December to give you the chance to explore Antarctica where the penguins live.

You can begin your journey by freezing in the frozen-extremes gallery before meeting some fluffy friends and finding out how they survive the low temperatures of home.

Eilidh Massie, marketing manager at Dynamic Earth comments: "We are so excited to be running these activities between Christmas and New Year. Penguins are without a doubt one of the best-loved animals, and are fascinating creatures that face some real challenges with remarkable resilience.

"Penguin day is the perfect way to beat those post-Christmas blues while allowing children the chance to get hands-on and find out more about our favourite polar birds."

Penguin Day activities resume after New Year from 6 until 8 January. Activities are included in a ticket to Dynamic Earth. Activities will run between 10am & 4pm daily.

For more information visit <http://www.dynamicearth.co.uk/>