

Susan Tomes in concert at The Queen's Hall this week

Susan Tomes is an Edinburgh based pianist and writer who will be appearing at The Queen's Hall this week.

There are still tickets available for the recital on 9 February at 7.30pm which is preceded by a talk with Robert Philip at 6.30.

The recital will include Preludes by Debussy, a little Schubert in the middle and will then finish with Beethoven's Sonata in E Major, Op 109.

Susan is an acclaimed pianist who received the Cobbett Medal in 2013 for her distinguished services to chamber music.

The Edinburgh Reporter spoke to her about the upcoming concert.