

Progressive rock band Frost* coming to the Liquid Rooms next Month

Progressive rock band Frost* will be appearing at the Liquid Rooms on Saturday 8th April.

BAFTA nominated and Ivor Novello award winning songwriter Jem Godfrey formed the band in 2005 after 5 years of writing million selling number 1 records for the likes of Holly Valance, Atomic Kitten and X-Factor. The band quickly gained attention with the release of their debut album "Milliontown" in 2006 which remains an oft cited influence to this day with many up and coming bands.

Since then Frost* have released a second album, a DVD and supported Dream Theater, Spock's Beard and Pallas on hugely successful tours. Frost* are following up on their very successful summer 2016 tour with this Spring 2017 Tour.

In the intervening time, Jem has been recruited by Joe Satriani and Steve Vai to play keyboards on various tours, John Mitchell has released the critically acclaimed "Lonely Robot" album, Nathan King continues to tour and record with pop legends Level 42 while Craig Blundell is now the drummer for prog luminary Steven Wilson who has recently released the smash crossover record "Hand. Cannot. Erase".

With latest album "Falling Satellites" released in May 2016. A fantastic Cruise to The Edge. An already existing legendarily loyal and deeply committed fan base. Frost* are cementing their reputation as one of the leading progressive rock acts of the 21st century.

Frost* are:

Jem Godfrey – Keys/vocals,

John Mitchell – Guitar/vocals (It Bites),

Nathan King – Bass/vocals (Level 42)

Craig Blundell – Drums (Steven Wilson)
