

An Audience With Ian Waite & Natalie Lowe – Somewhere in Time

Edinburgh aficionados of BBC One's Strictly Come Dancing will be delighted to hear that two of the show's professional dancers – Ian Waite and Natalie Lowe – are bringing their stage show to the capital. An Audience With Iain Waite & Natalie Lowe – Somewhere in Time is at the Usher Hall on Saturday 8th April at 7.30pm

Ian and Natalie have developed a whole new show with newly choreographed routines of their favourite Ballroom and Latin dances. New music developed to accompany these dances are sure to give fans a feel-good factor with the promise of pure romance. The dance showcase spectacular will give full on entertainment with a romantic feel and will transport you away to a place of wonderful moments, with lots of laughs and stories along the way. The pro-pairing have been on our screens for eight years on the hit BBC show and are best known for their high intensity performances. Ian and Natalie have become family favourites, as they have always pushed the boundaries of dance to bring the best out of their celebrity couple.

On the night, they will dance a mix of Ballroom and Latin with fun filled entertainment and a close-up history of all things related to their life. It promises to be a night to remember.
