

Charlie was the darling at the Waldorf whisky dinner

The Waldorf Astoria Edinburgh – The Caledonian held an intimate whisky dinner on Tuesday 6th June to mark the fifth anniversary of the critically acclaimed movie, Angels' Share.

Picture: Charles Maclean and General manager Dale Macphee

Waldorf Astoria The Caledonian Edinburgh hosts the 5th Anniversary of the release of the film 'The Angles Share' with whisky sampling and a meal along with a screening of the movie

Renowned spirits guru, Charles MacLean hosted the exquisite malt-paired dinner in The Pompadour restaurant, which provided the backdrop for his acting debut in the iconic whisky tasting scene in the movie. Charles introduced guests to drams from Balblair distillery, where much of the film was shot, as well as other well-known whiskies from Glenkinchie, Lagavulin and Glenfarclas.

Following the meal, guests had the opportunity to chat to Scotland's whisky expert, who shared many behind the scenes stories and amusing anecdotes, before enjoying a private screening of the much-loved film.

Photo by WWW.IANGEORGESONPHOTOGRAPHY.CO.UK