

First Minister writes to the Prime Minister

Today the First Minister has sent a letter to Theresa May the Prime Minister urging her to think about the Scottish and Welsh interests when discussing Brexit next week, and to allow for representation from the devolved governments on the negotiating team.

She also asks that the Prime Minister looks again at the Scottish Government document 'Scotland's Place in Europe' perhaps with a view to adopting these ideas for the whole of the UK.

You can read the whole letter below.

Loading...

Taking too long?

Reload document

|  Open in new tab

[Download \[162.00 B\]](#)