

#GE2017 Scottish Conservative leader casts her vote

Taking the opportunity to walk the dog at the same time, Scottish Conservative Leader Ruth Davidson voted this morning at Café Camino beside St Mary's Cathedral.

She was accompanied by her partner Jen Wilson and left Wilson (not named after Harold we understand!) the black spaniel outside with the Conservative Party media manager while they went inside to vote.

It is now teeming down with rain and this was one wet dog by the time Ruth picked him up for the waiting photographers. She has promised however that by the next election in four years time she will have him better trained to look down the lens!
