

Glamping accommodation option for the Festival

Dundas Castle has launched its August glamping options for festivalgoers and the site includes ten luxurious canvas cottages set around the loch on the beautiful estate just outside Edinburgh.

The location is on the shores loch at the private, 400-acre Dundas Estate and it is eco-friendly through the use of propane gas, solar lighting, biodegradable products and sustainable and recyclable materials.

Guests have the opportunity to take part in its Plant a Tree Programme and contribute to the estate's ecosystem.

Prices start at £169 per night during August and each five-star canvas cottage contains a king-size bed complete with Egyptian cotton bedding, soft pillows and a duvet.

Units also include a fully-equipped kitchen cupboard, en-suite shower room with hot and cold running water, toiletries and composting toilets, wood burning stoves with a supply of logs for warmth and cooking inside, barbecues,

USB ports for charging devices, towels, lighting, patio heaters, comfy seating and a lockable safe box are there.

Sir Jack Stewart-Clark, owner of Dundas Castle, said: "With our luxurious glamping canvas cottages the full Edinburgh experience is only a short way off yet, once you are on the Dundas Estate, it is tranquil and beautiful."
