

Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2017 – Chris Turner: What a Time To Be Alive

Following a critically acclaimed festival season in Australia, Chris Turner returns to the Edinburgh Festival Fringe this year with his highly anticipated fourth brand new stand up show.

He will also be returning to his homeland from his adopted home in America.

Yes...whilst thousands of Americans are searching for ways to leave their country, Chris has moved against the tide and settled into downtown LA.

Chris's quotable gags and rapid freestyle raps have established him as one of the most in-demand acts on the corporate circuit and at comedy clubs across the UK.

His keen wit and intelligent wordplay have seen him rack up over 5 million views on YouTube; headline for 1 million Dutch comedy fans on RTL4's flagship stand up show, The Comedy Factory; appear live on BBC Radio 2 and 6Music and perform sold-out runs at festivals worldwide.

In 2014, his debut show Pretty Fly won the Amused Moose People's Choice award for best show at the Edinburgh Fringe. His fiercely personal 2015 show XXV was called 'The best show I've reviewed in seven years' by The List's Murray Robertson. In 2016, Observational Tragedy won Best Comedy at the Adelaide Fringe Weekly Awards, and for the third year running, many of his jokes appeared in multiple 'Best Jokes of the Fringe' lists. Tickets available here

Venue: Pleasance – Pleasance Upstairs
(Venue 33)

Dates: 2nd to 27th August 2017

Time: 9.45pm

Box office: 0131 556 6550