

Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2017: Colin Cloud – Dare

Colin Cloud returns to the Edinburgh Festival Fringe this year with his highly-anticipated brand new show.

Having completed totally sold-out seasons at Edinburgh Fringe since 2014 and the Adelaide Fringe 2016 he has appeared in The Illusionists Live from Broadway and London's West End, and will be returning to the city direct from a 6-month tour of America.

His outrageous stunts on TV and the world's largest stages have left celebrities and audiences shaken to their core.

DARE will make no exception to this rule.

As the master of the unconscious, Colin Cloud will calculate the future and deduce your intimate thoughts. Like Sherlock Holmes, he'll push his skills to the limit and let you see how he uses his almost superhuman abilities in the real world.

Be involved in a life-enhancing experience of epic proportions as Cloud explores key elements of human nature: persona, identity, group-bonding, tribalism and cults.

Colin Cloud will ask members of the audience to put their life in his hands. Will they succumb to his outrageous suggestions? We DARE you to find out.

Colin Cloud is known around the world as the man who can reveal your deepest, darkest secrets. As intense as a hypnotist, as witty as a comedian, as alluring as Sherlock Holmes, he causes amazement (and a few red faces) wherever he goes.

A popular guest on ITV's This Morning (his revelation of Holly Willoughby's embarrassing childhood memory about a trampoline went viral) Cloud has also appeared on The One Show (BBC), Loose Women (ITV) and The Steve Wright Show (BBC Radio 2). He also appeared with Sherlock co-creator and writer, Mark Gatiss, in the online lead-up to The Abominable Bride, the Sherlock Christmas Special for BBC1.

The Edinburgh Reporter has been to Colin Cloud's Edinburgh Festival Fringe shows for the last three years. It can't wait to go again! Tickets here.
