

Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2017 – Creatives

Following a critically-acclaimed season earlier this year at The Chicago Theatre Workshop, Irvine Welsh and Don De Grazia's brand new musical, Creatives, will have its UK premiere at this year's Edinburgh Festival Fringe.

Paul Brenner's song writing class is a cross-section of the Chicago music scene, with all its incestuous dysfunction, navel-gazing narcissism, bitterness, and occasional brilliance.

When former student, pop star Sean O'Neil, visits this group of musicians to judge a contest, the stakes are suddenly raised to new levels when both revenge and jealousies come to the fore.
