

Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2017 – David Ephgrave: Now Who's a Comedian?

David Ephgrave is proud to present his third full-length solo show at this year's Edinburgh Festival Fringe.

At 36, David is still unable to function in society. Every midday, the daily blogging comic will dissect his awkward life and his obscure bugbears and annoyances (think – Michael Portillo's multi-coloured blazer-and-trouser combinations) when he should be having lunch.

His wife threatened to take a show with this title to Edinburgh, so David got in first.

David Ephgrave is a comedian, writer, actor, musician and pauper – and back end of the comic duo Doggett & Ephgrave. Tickets here.
