

AM Bid Services aiming high

Andrew Morrison (left) with Ross Prentice of Haddington-based Prentice Coaches at the recent Midlothian and East Lothian Chamber annual meeting. Picture Nigel Duncan Media

AM Bid services, who are members of the Edinburgh and Midlothian and East Lothian Chambers of Commerce, are the High Growth Business of the Year and Small Business of the Year winner in Scotland.

Richard Ellis, head of membership at the Edinburgh Chamber of Commerce (ECC) said: "AM Bid Services joined ECC as a new company in 2015 and, over the past two years, we have seen them develop and grow into an extremely successful and profitable business as reflected in their recent accolades."

Andrew Morrison, the company's managing director, said: "AM Bid Services joined the Chamber before we started recruiting our staff.

"The help, support, networking and training opportunities that active membership of Edinburgh Chamber of Commerce provides have been key elements of our success story.

"I must also pay tribute to our very hard-working staff who consistently go the extra mile for clients to help them get the winning edge in their bids.

"We are continuing to enjoy rapid growth with the business now benefitting from having the experienced David Sole OBE as our non-executive chairman."