

New service for the elderly coming to Edinburgh – jobs available

Many of our older people simply want to live in their own homes as independently as possible for as long as possible. Now there is a new service available in Edinburgh offering support and companionship which could help with that.

MyLife Living Assistance offers a range of premium bespoke home support packages. These include dementia care packages, respite and personal support or assistance with everyday tasks such as shopping or housework. MyLife Living Assistants are matched to clients according to their specific needs with care varying from an hour's visit once a week through to 24 hour live-in care.

MyLife also offer live-in care which means that a specially trained MyLife Living Assistant lives with clients 24/7. This ensures that they are safe and can enjoy fulfilled lives – providing peace of mind for both clients and their loved ones.

Live-in care is welcomed by older couples who live together in their own homes and older children who live away from their parents and have limited opportunities to assist them. It can provide a balance between maintaining familiar surroundings and round-the-clock support.

MyLife Edinburgh Business Manager Sue Judge says: "We are delighted to bring our expertise and experience to Edinburgh and will be doing our utmost to help those who need additional support to live fulfilled lives. If you or your loved one requires extra support and you'd like more information about the choices which are open to you, please do not hesitate to get in touch."

The company is also currently recruiting for MyLife Living Assistants to join the team.

It is preferable for job candidates to have some level of care or comparable customer service experience, this can include having cared for a family member or loved one. If you are a compassionate and pragmatic individual interested in a career in care, please contact the MyLife Edinburgh team for further details.
