Three international title fights will feature on the undercard at The Royal Highland Centre, Ingliston, on November 11.

East Lothian star Josh Taylor headlines against former world champion Miguel Vazquez.

Exciting prospect Chantelle Cameron, who has won her first three fights, faces Mexico's durable contender Edith Ramos (6-1-1) for the vacant IB0 Inter-Continental super featherweight title.

This is Cameron's first title fight as a professional and she will be looking to continue her perfect start to life in the paid ranks.

Heavyweight Martin Bakole puts his nine-fight record on the line when he faces also unbeaten Ali Baghouz (for the vacant IB0 Continental title.

And Edinburgh-based Jason Easton, who has won his first ten fights as a professional, will feature as chief support on the bill.

He defends his IB0 Inter-Continental super-lightweight title against the undefeated Czech champion Josef Zahradnik, nine fights, nine wins.

Easton's last bout against Belgium's Steve Jamoye on the Josh Taylor v Ohara Davies undercard at Braehead in July was an all-out, nine round war before the Scot prevailed.

Explosive prospect Chris Billam-Smith continues his development in a four-round contest. The Bournemouth cruiserweight ended both of his contests to date inside a round, including the stunning stoppage of the experienced Russ Henshaw on his debut.
