

Dean puts on a Big Hair Do

Edinburgh based Dean Jones Hair held a Big Hair Do event at their Elm Row Salon recently to raise funds for the Little Princess Trust.

The evening is originally the idea of Creative HEAD Magazine and Layered Online's Big Hair Do and is the biggest UK-wide party in hair salons.

At Dean Jones Hair local company Gin Queen on hand with cocktails, delicious canapes and personalised cupcakes along with glasses of fizz.

Dean created different stations within the salon to show clients how to recreate their favourite looks at home, from Dean's famous 'Hair Up in a Hurry' to stylist Claire's 'Waving and Curling' Tutorials.

The star of the show was the raffle station and guests were able to purchase strips at just £2 each, prizes included luxury perfumes and aftershaves as well as champagne and all donations went to The Little Princess Trust.

Salon owner Dean Jones matched the funds raised on the night and a total of £320 has been donated to Little Princess Trust.

Dean commented : "It was a wonderful evening and the sort of event we are definitely keen to do more of in future. I love the work the charity does, and really believe in their cause so doubling the funds raised by my guests was a real honour.

We had so much fun and being able to help such a brilliant charity was the cherry on top.”
