

Team news ahead of tonight's Edinburgh derby

Both teams have players unavailable for tonight's Edinburgh derby,

Neil Lennon has doubts over winger Danny Swanson and striker Anthony Stokes.

Swanson suffered a bang on the knee in training on Sunday whilst Stokes has a swollen ankle following a challenge in the Betfred League Cup semi-final at Hampden on Saturday.

Darren McGregor is still recovering from a knee problem while Liam Fontaine remains a long-term absentee due to an ankle injury.

Craig Levein has no fresh injury worries and is unsure whether to start teenager Harry Cochrane who performed well after coming off the bench against St Johnstone on Saturday.

Don Cowie is still out with a calf complaint, as is Aaron Hughes whilst Arnaud Djoum is unavailable with a knee injury.

Malaury Martin and Ashley Smith-Brown are still recovering from knocks but Connor Randall returns from suspension.