

Hibs launch dedicated website covering work of the club's academy.

Hibs have launched a dedicated website covering the work of the club's academy.

The website will carry all the latest information from the Hibernian Training Centre, covering all age groups from under 11s to the Development Squad.

The Hibernian Academy recently achieved elite level status as part of the Scottish FA's Project Brave, and the club has a rich history of producing players for the first team.

Supporters, players and families alike can also track fixture dates and highlights from the various teams, and can learn more about the vision and structure at the Hibernian Academy.

The website can be viewed here.

A club spokesman said: "A big thanks to Liam McNally for producing much of the content for the website, and to Gavin Hill for photography."