

Robert Burns is latest addition to Norwegian planes

Scottish Poet to grace airline's aircraft as the world celebrates Burns Night

Norwegian has announced that our very own Robert Burns will become its first Scottish 'tail fin hero'. The renowned poet's portrait will grace the tail fin of a Norwegian Boeing 787 Dreamliner aircraft which will take to the skies later this Spring.

The announcement comes on the most appropriate days 25 January. The first Burns supper was held in July 1801 when Burns' close friends got together to mark the fifth anniversary of his death. The night included performances of Burns' work and was such a resounding success they decided to hold it again, beginning the tradition of Burns Night!

Since Norwegian's first aircraft took to the skies, the airline has always honoured iconic figures on the tails of its aircraft, using personalities who symbolise the spirit of Norwegian by pushing boundaries, challenging the norm and inspiring others.

To reflect Norwegian's rapid growth in the UK, where it now flies 5 million UK passengers each year to more than 50 destinations, the airline is planning a series of UK tail fin heroes. Robert Burns will become Norwegian's sixth UK tail fin hero and first Scottish hero, following the announcement of rock legend Freddie Mercury, footballer Bobby Moore, children's author Roald Dahl, pioneering pilot Amy Johnson, author Jane Austen and aviation maverick Sir Freddie Laker.

Norwegian's Chief Commercial Officer Thomas Ramdahl said:

“Our ‘tail fin heroes’ offer us a perfect chance to pay tribute to some of the greatest Scots of all time. Robert Burns has inspired generations and as the world celebrates the anniversary of his birth, it is an honour to have one of the greatest poets of all time adorn our aircraft.”

Malcolm Roughead, VisitScotland Chief Executive, said:
“Norwegian’s tail fin heroes are all about celebrating individuals who have inspired others and that is certainly true of Robert Burns, whose words have touched the hearts and minds of people the world over. As a cultural icon, Burns is a symbol of Scotland’s creativity, passion and pride. As we prepare to celebrate Burns Night we hope passengers of Norwegian are inspired to learn more about the birthplace of one of the world’s greatest literary legends.”

Norwegian, Europe’s third largest low-cost carrier, first began operations at Edinburgh Airport in 2009 and has since flown more than 1.5 million passengers to Europe and transatlantic. Norwegian operates transatlantic flights from Scotland direct to smaller airports on the US east coast – Stewart International Airport and Providence International Airport, offering easy access to New York City and Boston.
