

Ryanair to fly direct to Lisbon from Edinburgh

Ryanair are introducing a new Edinburgh to Lisbon route from Winter 2018 and tickets will be bookable from March.

The twice weekly flight will be yet another addition to the winter schedule which promises that the budget airline is “Always Getting Better”.

The company promises punctuality, lower fees for checked in luggage and a price promise that you will not find a lower fare. If you do then they will refund the difference + £5 to your My Ryanair account.

Ryanair’s Chiara Ravara said: “We are pleased to launch a new route from Edinburgh to Lisbon with a twice weekly service, which will operate as part of our Winter 2018 schedule. This first route of our Winter 2018 schedule will go on sale next month, and Edinburgh consumers and visitors can look forward to even lower fares and the latest “Always Getting Better” improvements.

“To celebrate, we are releasing seats for sale from just £19.99 (subject to availability) for travel between March and May, which are available for booking until midnight on Friday 23 February 2018. Since these amazing low prices will be snapped up quickly, customers should log onto www.ryanair.com now and avoid missing out.”
