

Police release CCTV images after Eddie Jones abused in Manchester

British Transport Police have released images of four men they wish to speak to after England rugby coach Eddie Jones was verbally abused by a group of men outside Manchester Oxford Road train station on Sunday, February 25 following Scotland's Calcutta Cup win in Edinburgh.

BTP has now issued images of four men they wish to speak to as part of the investigation.

A spokesperson said: " We'd like to speak to them in relation to a public order incident on 25 February.

"Between 9.15am and midday, the victim – a high profile sporting figure – travelled from Edinburgh Waverley to Manchester Oxford Road.

"At Oxford Road, a group of men started to use abusive and threatening words towards the victim and in the presence of other passengers.
