

Jet2.com add more places to go to from Edinburgh Airport

Jet2 announced this week that they have more destinations for you to think about when booking a holiday or flight.

From summer next year there will be flights and holidays to Bourgas in Bulgaria and you can already book to go to Bodrum twice weekly from May to October or Corfu with a weekly service on Thursdays.

Using two new 727-800 aircraft as well as the existing fleet there is now a total of 34 destinations and 800,000 seats from Edinburgh Airport.

Bourgas in Bulgaria is a beach destination with miles of golden sand on the Black Sea. There are two five star hotels and you are promised lively nightlife as well as sunny days.

Stanislav Yevetski the Bulgarian actor who played Victor Drum in Harry Potter helped the airline announce the news.
