A selection of modern affordable apartments and homes are now on sale at Pennywell Living in North Edinburgh.

The one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments and homes are designed with modern living in mind.

Kirsty Robertson, sales and marketing manager at Urban Union, said: "There are plenty of options for everyone, from first-time buyers to growing families."

Apartment prices start from £105,000 and three-bedroom, semi-detached homes start from £182,000.

They are available with Help to Buy which means that you only need a deposit of five per cent.

Ms Robertson said Pennywell sits within the catchment area of local schools, both at primary and secondary level.

The development is also within easy reach of public transport links.
