Cami Brown claims the Scottish speedway derby will top the bill for thrills this weekend in a huge few days for sport across Europe.

Glasgow face fierce rivals Edinburgh in the first round of the KO Cup – racing twice in three days.

The sides will compete with the likes of the F1 Monaco Grand Prix, French Open tennis and World Superbikes at Donington for the attentions of sports fans with the Champions League final and Czech Speedway Grand Prix also on the bill.

But Tigers’ team manager Brown insists his team’s head-to-head is the most exciting speedway meeting going – and one of the best events in any sport.

He said: “It’s hard to explain how exciting it is to watch four guys on bikes going at 70mph just a few feet in front of you – especially on our new track.

“We’re some of the best racing we’ve ever witnessed in Glasgow.

“I’d be willing to bet that fans won’t see better sporting action this weekend as they will in our meetings with Edinburgh.

“And then there’s the Scottish derby atmosphere to look forward to, which is one of the best in British speedway.

“A place in the next round of the cup is on the line, and it’s a massive fixture in the context of our season. It would be brilliant to start our charge towards silverware.”

The Tigers travel to Edinburgh on Friday (tapes-up 7.30pm) then host the Monarchs on Sunday (3pm).
