

72nd Edinburgh Taxi Drivers' Outing

On the second Tuesday of June a number of taxi drivers in the city put aside their fares and take a number of children to the beach for the day.

It is always a colourful affair and we caught some of it on camera this morning. Look out for the children being brought back to town at the end of the day – hopefully happy but probably exhausted!

Spot the weapons! Water pistols at the ready....

Some asked on Twitter if there were enough balloons attached to lift the taxis off the ground!

Nonagenarian Tam Gilzean who is a champion fundraiser for children was at the head of the 2018 procession of taxis PHOTO ©2018 The Edinburgh Reporter

