

A passport to summer fun with Edinburgh Leisure

With the summer holidays soon approaching, you could set your child up for a summer challenge by taking part in Edinburgh Leisure's 'Summer Swim Passport'. Not only will your little one keep active and try out new challenges, but they could win a month's free swimming for the family.

The Edinburgh Leisure 'Summer Swim Passport' offers you the opportunity of trying different water-based activities, all chosen from a list.

Once the challenge is achieved, the child gets their passport signed by a member of staff. After seven challenges or signatures have been achieved, the passport can be handed into any one of Edinburgh Leisure's centres, where it will be entered into a prize draw to win unlimited family swimming for a month (terms and conditions apply). Any child feeling really energetic can complete more than one passport over the summer.

From simple things like going for a swim to more challenging suggestions like diving from a board at the Royal Commonwealth to doing a somersault in the water, there's plenty of activities to choose from to keep the kids amused. Cost of the activities will vary.

The ' Summer Swim Passport' takes place from 30 June – 13 August. Some of the Edinburgh Leisure pools may be closed for a few weeks over the summer, (for example, the Royal Commonwealth Pool will be closed in the run-up and during the European Championships – Glasgow 2018, where the diving element will be taking place from 1-13 August.)
