

COMPETITION – win two tickets to business networking event this Thursday

WIN 2 TICKETS TO THE NEXT LOVE YOUR BUSINESS NETWORKING CLUB AT BLACK IVY

If you haven't heard about the business 'networking' club at Black Ivy in Bruntsfield, 'Love Your Business', featuring guest speakers, workshops, great networking opportunities and table tennis, then organiser, Michelle Brown, would really like you to try one of their sessions this week – for free!

You can win two tickets here. Just send us your details on this form and we will choose a winner at random on Wednesday morning 27 June 2018 at 11am. Your email address and other details will be shared with Love Your Business only if you win.

The club runs on the last Thursday of the month, 10am – 12noon and is great for anyone in business who wants to hear inspiring stories from entrepreneurs to help build their own brand, audience and profile and also hear from organisations like VisitScotland who want to help businesses to tap into 'Scotland the Brand'.

Michael McCuish of VisitScotland

Michael McCuish, VisitScotland's PR Manager for the North American market, who is always looking for new ways to collaborate with Scottish businesses, will be one of the guest speakers on Thursday, 28 June 2018, offering insight into the new Scotland is Now campaign.

The meetings are held on the last Thursday of each month at Black Ivy.

Joining him in the quirky co-working space at Black Ivy, which features two ping pong tables to encourage people to remember to take time out and have fun, is Colin Campbell, brand manager at Edinburgh-based Fusion Whisky.

Colin will talk about the remarkable stories and famous Scottish characters behind four new whiskies that celebrate the country's influence on the world.

Previous guests include Alice Thomson, co-founder of Social Bite and Callum Mark, Director at Foxlake Adventures – as you
