

Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2018 – ScotlandsFest 2018

There is so much to tell you about that we have inserted the full programme below for the four day festival run by Luath Press, which involves many of their esteemed authors.

There are fifteen afternoon sessions of stimulating conversations, readings and debate all held at the Quaker Meeting House.

You can buy tickets for individual events and a week or a day pass too. Details here

In no order and with no preference disclosed the line up includes Peter Geoghegan talking about Belfast and The Troubles, one Councillor Gordon Munro and Neil Findlay MSP. With Mel Young who famously began the Homeless World Cup and Richard Demarco also on the programme, this is perhaps something you might like to bookmark.
