

Ice hockey – Racers confirm another sponsor deal

Flashback to the recent fans forum at Murrayfield. Racers are now looking for a packed stadium for their first home fixture. Picture by Nigel Duncan Media

Murrayfield Racers have clinched a sponsorship deal with Lothians-based company, SJS Property Services.

The well-established family owned business will have their logo displayed on their the strips and they will advertise at Murrayfield Ice Rink which welcomes over 250,000 clients every year.

SJS provide fit-out, refurbish, develop, project manage, maintain and provide bespoke joinery manufacturing and flooring.

Their blue-chip client list includes NHS Lothian, The University of Edinburgh, Heriot-Watt University, The House of Bruar, The Royal College of Surgeons, Harvey Nichols, So Stobo and George Watson's College.

Craig Murie, the company's managing director, said: "SJS are supporting Racers' ambitious plans to re-establish the name of Murrayfield Racers to its position amongst the top flight of British ice hockey.

"Our sponsorship will assist the team on the ice but also bolster Racers' efforts in local schools and in the community to encourage children to become healthier through sport."

Tony Hand, Racers' director of hockey said: "With the support of SJS we aim to make our first season one to remember."