

Residents join in the Circus of Light on the National Cycle Network

More than 60 Craigmillar (Edinburgh) residents and young people took part in a spectacular glow parade and circus skills performance last night as part of a series of workshops aimed at encouraging more people to walk and cycle.

Kat Borrowdale from ThinkCircus (front centre with hoop) leads a circus event with Craigmillar families on Bingham Green, Edinburgh, on the national cycle route (NCN1).

Photo Colin Hattersley Photography

Run by ThinkCircus and supported by Sustrans Scotland's ArtRoots programme, which is funded by Scottish Government, the Circus of Lights procession travelled through Little France and ended at the Innocent cycle path on National Cycle Network Route 1.

All photos Colin Hattersley Photography – www.colinhattersley.com – cphattersley@gmail.com – 07974 957 388.