Hibs' on-loan goalkeeper Adam Bogdan has not ruled out the possibility of a permanent move to the club after his Liverpool contract ends.

The Hungarian international has been in fine form after a shaky start and has retained the jersey despite Ofir Marciano's recovery from injury.

When asked whether staying at Hibs would appeal to him, the 31-year-old "Yes, of course, as Hibs is a very appealing club and Edinburgh is fantastic.

"I have a season-long loan at Easter Road, and I'm very happy in the city and at Hibs.

"The support from the fans is great and the people at the club are fantastic.

"My contract with Liverpool finishes at the end of the season, but there is no pressure on me about where I will go next.

"I was out injured for a long time, so I want to enjoy what I'm doing and perform the best I can in every game.

“I have a mindset of enjoying my game and trying to improve, and play as many matches as possible.

“Apart from the Celtic game we haven’t lost many goals if you watch the last seven or eight matches.

“But we haven’t scored in the last three games which isn’t like us because we have been playing well and scoring a lot.
