

More ScotRail seats for Final Test

ScotRail is, once again, adding more seats on trains to and from Edinburgh this weekend as Scotland play their third, and final match, in the Autumn Test Series.

Scotland will play Argentina at the BT Murrayfield Stadium on Saturday 24 November at 2.30pm, and extra carriages are being added to trains between Edinburgh and the Borders, Fife, Glasgow, Dundee, Dunblane and Aberdeen.

Fans heading to the game are advised to allow more time for travel, as queuing systems will be in place at Glasgow Queen Street before kick-off and at Haymarket after the final whistle.

ScotRail will have extra staff on hand to help customers and, as with most large events, alcohol bans will be in force.

ScotRail Head of Customer Operations Phil Campbell said:

“We’re really looking forward to helping fans travel to Murrayfield to see if Scotland can sign off on the Autumn Tests with a win.

“To make the day run smoothly we’ll be adding extra carriages, but trains will still be very busy so customers should plan ahead.

“Allow extra time for travel and buy your tickets in advance on our website or mobile app.”
