NEW DEVELOPMENT FOR RUMBLINGWELL FROM ALLANWATER HOMES

Development will carry on from huge success of Carnock Road, with yet more family friendly homes available

Allanwater Homes has announced the launch of a brand new development at Rumblingwell in Dunfermline.

A selection of two to four bedroom terraced, semi detached and detached homes will be available in the first phase at Rumblingwell, which will offer twenty seven properties. These homes are expected to be ready for completion in the Autumn of 2019.

☒ The eagerly anticipated new development follows on from the huge success of Allanwater Homes Carnock Road development, just a short distance away from Rumblingwell, which brought eco friendly new housing to an area which had been lacking in quality new build properties for many years.

“Allanwater Homes are delighted to be offering another family friendly development in this area of Dunfermline,” said Sharron McCarthy, Sales & Marketing Manager for Allanwater Homes. “We found that local buyers were very keen to acquire one of our properties at Carnock Road. The development established our brand in the town, as one offering value for money, energy efficient homes with the features today’s buyers want to see.”

Our starting prices are a very affordable £144,995. We’re confident again of making a big impression in the Dunfermline marketplace,” she added.
