

MSP thanks Royal Mail staff during busy festive period

Lothian MSP Gordon Lindhurst paid an early morning visit to Royal Mail's Edinburgh Western Delivery Office to say thanks to hard working staff in the current busy festive period.

At the delivery office, he met with manager Brian Murray as well as hard working postmen and women who are working flat out to ensure gifts are delivered in time for Christmas across the capital.

The run up to Christmas is the busiest period for Royal Mail staff, especially with the ever growing online market, as well as people sending Christmas cards and parcels.

Commenting Gordon Lindhurst MSP said: “I was delighted to pay a visit to the Edinburgh Western Delivery office to say thanks to our hard working Royal Mail staff, who do a wonderful job all year around, but even more so at this busy festive period.

“I could see first-hand just how much was going on to ensure Christmas gifts and cards will be delivered on time across the capital.

“Our postmen and women deliver in all sorts of weathers and are truly dedicated to their work so it was great to have an opportunity to say my thanks.”
